

New Alliance Environmental Group Director Specializes in HVAC Duct Cleaning

Bedford, MA (July 26, 2021) – Alliance Environmental Group, an F.W. Webb Company, is pleased to announce the addition of Stefano D’Amico to their team as Director of HVAC duct cleaning services. D’Amico will be responsible for the firm's HVAC duct and vent cleaning services for residential, commercial and industrial properties.

“Due to COVID-19, there has been an emphasis on improving indoor air quality and HVAC duct cleaning is usually the first step in the process. However, some F.W. Webb customers who provide these services are still rebounding from the impacts of the pandemic on their business. This new offering can help augment their staff by providing them with additional resources and highly qualified field technicians. It is another service within our indoor air quality portfolio,” said Felix Perriello, CHMM, CPG, LSP, LEP, President, Alliance Environmental Group.

D’Amico has been offering HVAC duct and vent cleaning services to the Greater Boston area for over 20 years. He received his Bachelor’s degree in business management from Suffolk University. While studying at Suffolk, he started working for his family’s HVAC company, Paone Mechanical. After eight years of installing HVAC duct work, D'Amico started his own business, Clean Air Duct & Vent Cleaning, which was acquired by F.W. Webb Company in April.
